

MEDIA RELEASE

Tuesday 30 September 2008

ALRA'S NEW, DYNAMIC FOUNDATION ACTING COURSE IS OFF TO A FANTASTIC START

ALRA (the Academy of Live and Recorded Arts) based in Wandsworth London, now runs a dynamic one year part-time Foundation Acting course offering the ideal preparation for professional training for potential actors. ALRA is recognised for its highly successful methods.

The Foundation Acting course is directed by Rachel Nicholson who also forms part of the same outstanding professional team who have established and maintained ALRA's premiere reputation.

The take-up for the course has been fantastic with a large mixture of students participating. The atmosphere is friendly, supportive and positive while allowing the students to work within a disciplined, professional and stimulating environment.

Details for next year's Foundation Acting course can be found on the website www.alra.co.uk. Applications are now being accepted for entry in 2009 with auditions scheduled for May and June 2009. The course is open to everyone although places are limited.

In addition to ALRA's new Foundation Acting course, the school is also running a number of new short courses. Various programmes are on offer to Businesses, Actors and Directors, English and Drama Teachers as well as member of the public and cover a multitude of disciplines ranging from Powerful Presentations, A Play in a Day and TV Presenting to Inset Weekends, Community Singing and Street Dance. Further details and application forms can be found on the website www.alra.co.uk

Press contact: Emma Gray 020 8870 6475 Email: egray@alra.co.uk
ALRA, the Academy of Live and Recorded Arts
Studio 1, RVP Building, John Archer Way, London, SW18 3SX